"HOW can we face the people after indulging in such outrageous discrimination and violations of principle?"

—CLEVELAND'S LETTER TO WILSON.

"THERE is no excuse for mistaking or misapprehending the feeling and the temper of the rank and file of Democracy. They are downcast under the assertion that their party fails in ability to manage the government, and they are apprehensive that efforts to bring about tariff reform may fail; but they are much more downcast and apprehensive in their fear that Democratic principles may be surrendered."

—CLEVELAND'S LETTER TO WILSON.

What the Country Wants.
Speaking of the tariff question the New York World remarks that "the country needs a rest, it wants a rest, and it will take means to let the politicians know that it intends to have a rest."

This is strange talk from a Democratic newspaper. The recognized Democratic leaders, Mr. Wilson at the head of them, have apologized for their inability to carry the free trade war further at this time, and pledged their party to go on with the work until the ideal Democratic tariff shall have been reached.

If the Democrats have the next house they will have another tariff bill, much more advanced on the free trade line than the one that has passed, and they will bend all their energies to put it through. This is not a programme of rest. Of course the country does not intend that the Democrats shall have the next house, but the World will do what it can to make the next house Democratic.

Taking one consideration with another, it is hard to understand what satisfaction the World finds in its conviction that the country is about to sit down on the Democratic party.

SAYS Debs, says he, "Look at me. I'm a great man with a very large G." It is beautiful to see such talent remaining solid in its own estimation.

Howard for Defeat.

The nomination of Mr. Howard, of Ohio county, by the Democratic First district congressional convention, was foreshadowed in the INTELLIGENCER. Everything pointed in that direction in spite of the mixed condition of affairs. It is not to be supposed that Mr. Howard desired the nomination because he thinks there is any chance for a Democrat to be elected in this district this year. He had some other reasons for desiring to be his party's standard-bearer in this district and is willing to make a campaign of defeat to achieve his object.

Mr. Howard is a young man of ability, industrious, ambitious, and has many friends who will not vote for him.

Granger Gould will return to his native land with the odor of royalty thick upon him; which of itself will be enough to attract all the snobs in the country.

Hard Pulling on the Platform.

The Clarksburg convention produced a remarkable hodge podge for a platform of principles. It recognizes in the senate bill "a sincere and honest endeavor on the part of the house of representatives to carry out the pledges of the party." This is the bill which the Democratic President denounces as "party perjury and party dishonor."

The next resolve denounces the "so-called Democratic senators" who licked the senate measure into shape and made the rest swallow it. But it is all Democratic, and it all goes until there shall be a chance to rip the country wide open again with another lunge of the Democratic tariff knife.

It will embarrass the nominee to hold his feet on that remarkable tariff plank.

That was a remarkable and inspiring scene when in the convention to nominate a Democrat for Congress in the First district there were cheers for the Republican nominee and calls for him to address the convention. The unusual incident gave aspirants for the Democratic nomination something to think about. There were delegates in that Democratic convention who will vote for Capt. Doyener.

Gambling as an Attraction.

It is complained that gambling is on the increase at Saratoga and has become so publicly offensive that many former frequenters of the place will not go there. Yet Saratoga regards gambling as a paying attraction, without which the town would suffer heavily.

Carrying out this idea, probably as an earnest of good faith, the people have chosen for mayor a man who runs one of the biggest gambling halls in the town. It is to be said for his honor the mayor that he professes to run "a square game." Furthermore he declares that he allows no one to play in his house who is not able to lose his money; which shows that the mayor keeps well up on the reports of the commercial agencies.

It may be true that if Saratoga were to banish gambling one of the chief attractions would be gone and the place would cease to attract a large part of its present patronage. It may be true also that a good deal of money which now goes into circulation would be missing.

We might establish in the mountains of West Virginia another Monte Carlo, gay with the glare of fashion and musical with the rattle of gold and silver, but this would hardly add to the good name of the state. The state of New York does not seem to know that Saratoga is within its jurisdiction.

No matter what President Cleveland may do about the tariff bill, the brand of "party perjury and party dishonor" is on it. That brand never was on any Republican tariff measure.

Color in Southern Politics.

A Democratic exchange points to Alabama to show that the negro of the south is casting his lot with the Democratic party. Yes, in some Alabama counties he seems to have cast more votes for the Democratic ticket than there are voters in those counties.

At first sight it looks as though the negro has learned Democratic methods and been permitted to employ them, but this conclusion would be misleading. The Democrats saved the negro all trouble in the matter by stuffing the ballot boxes to make what majority they wanted.

If, however, it be true that the southern negro is turning almost bodily to the Democratic party, which party is to-day the "nigger party" and which is the "white man's party" about which we used to hear so much red-in-the-face oratory?

Democrats may devote themselves to this question while the rest of us are watching the war in the east.

Mr. PENDLETON did not know himself. When the time came he wanted the nomination for Congress with a regular land-grabber's desire. Was the gentle John O. coquetting with the faithful?

Democrats Hoping for Republican Success.

Louisiana sugar planters are hoping for an increase of Republican strength in the senate to bring about a restoration of the sugar bounty. Those same planters have had opportunity enough to send Republicans to the senate, but they have not done it. They go right on voting with a party which opposes their interests, as many other Democrats have done.

There will be less of that this year. Even Louisiana may turn on the Democratic party and send some Republicans to the house. Three Louisiana districts are thought to be promising from this point of view, but it will not do to depend on any gains so far south as Louisiana. If they come they will do to take as good measure. The gains will be where men vote their principles, not their prejudices.

Congress waits for the return of the President so that it may get away and have some fun itself. Up to this time there has been no Buzzard's Bay for congressional talent. Eating crow does not take the place of a summer outing.

This Won't Do.

So Mr. Pullman's daughter is to marry a German prince. If Mr. Pullman had as much good sense as he has money he would put the parental veto on this project. He must know that it is his money, not his daughter, that the prince is after.

And while this important matter is before the house the INTELLIGENCER does Mr. Pullman the kindness to warn him that the people who travel in this country will not take kindly to the idea of being sweated for the sustenance of a progeny of princelings.

We shall have to draw the line on contributing to the support of the Pullman porters, who are our own countrymen.

The President will not vote the tariff bill. That measure will become a law and with it wool goes on the free list. So the slight recent advance in wool is off, wool drops back and the American producer is about to see whether he can get the old price under the new conditions. The waiting will not be long.

The Clarksburg convention denounced the Republican party and Republican policy, of course. But this won't close the public eye to the trust legislation which has just passed a Democratic Congress. Convention frolics can't cover up that entertaining fact.

The Democratic brethren at Clarksburg assembled had some trouble to determine just which of the tariff bills they approved. It is embarrassing to belong to a party which pulls in so many opposite directions with regard to one important question.

The New York Sun jumps on the President for using a revenue cutter to take him to Buzzard's Bay. If this were the worst act of his administration his countrymen would have little fault to find with the President. He didn't knock a hole in the bottom of the revenue cutter nor blow up her boiler.

The increase in railroad mileage last year was 2,540 miles, the smallest construction in sixteen years. An old state, Pennsylvania, headed the list for construction, another old state, Ohio, coming second, with West Virginia tenth and a long way ahead of many states that make more noise in the world. It was a great Democratic year for railroads, and this will wind up worse.

SAYS the New York World, "the sugar ring asserts its right to make our laws." Asserts the right! Bless your Democratic soul, the sugar trust has forced a Democratic Congress to do its bidding. Don't waste time jumping on the sugar ring. Speak your little piece about the Democratic party, which is the sugar ring's very humble and very obedient servant.

It made no difference to First district Republicans whom the Democrats put up for Congress. No Democrat can go to Congress this year from this district. It is not a Democratic year. Mr. Howard will be as pleasant a Democrat to have at home as any man in his party.

The new tariff makes a heavy cut in the duty on horses—which Canada and Mexico are ready to rush in on us—and makes an enormous increase in the duty on hogs—which we import for breeding purposes only and not to a great extent. It is a great tariff bill.

The French war department has reported in favor of a new buckler made of aluminum and copper.

Tiberias, Palestine, has a meteorological observatory situated 632 feet below the level of the Mediterranean sea.

The mayor of Stanton, Neb., has adopted heroic methods to rid the town of tramps. He gives them a compulsory bath in the river Platte.

Lonnard, the American inventor of a bullet-proof coat, uses a donkey to hang his patent shield upon while giving practical exhibitions of its invulnerability.

Japanese railroad men pronounce American locomotives superior to English, French or German makes, and the principal roads will use them entirely in the future.

Elderberries are now ripe. Old ladies with a turn for medicine are making use of the juice for several domestic remedies, and a few housewives still make elderberry wine. There is a large crop this year.

Horsehoes made of paper mache have been introduced into Germany and are said to give satisfaction. It is predicted that in a few years they will take the place of iron shoes wherever horses are shod.

A French physician who accompanied a detachment of 235 soldiers for six months for the purpose of making observations on their manner of sleeping found that 37 per cent habitually slept on the right side, 23 per cent on the left and six per cent on the back. One of the most wonderful of the many mountain railways is that which ascends Mount Pilatus, Switzerland. Its length from the shores of Alpnacht Bay to the Hotel Bellevue on the summit is but two and three-fourth miles, but in that distance it makes an ascent of 5,300 feet.

PEOPLE OF PROMINENCE.

To Queen Natalie, of Serbia, belongs the distinction of owning the finest head of hair among the royalties of Europe. She usually wears it hanging in two long plaits down her back.

Judge Coffey, of the San Francisco probate court, has ordered that the daughters of the late Mrs. Theresa Fair be awarded their portions of their mother's estate. The daughters are Mrs. Herman Oelrichs and Miss Virginia Fair, of New York. They will receive a million and a half each.

The rumor is revived that Secretary of the Navy Herbert and Miss Lottie Brown, daughter of ex-United States Senator Joseph E. Brown, of Georgia, are engaged, and will be married early this fall. The secretary has been spending some days at Lookout Mountain Inn, having gone there immediately after the election in Alabama, and Miss Brown arrived the evening previous. Since then the secretary and the fair Georgian have been, it is reported, constantly in companionship.

The Korean minister, Mr. Yo Sung Soo, and the secretary of the legation of Korea will sail from San Francisco on the 23rd inst. for home. They have been on leave of absence. Yo Sung Soo was formerly secretary of the legation, and was promoted to be minister a few months ago. While at home he will take the opportunity to fully inform his government with respect to American affairs, especially as bearing upon the present Japan-Chinese war. The legation at Washington during the minister's absence will be in charge of the counsellor, Ye Huen Gik, as chargé d'affaires.

BARBOUR COUNTY.

The Republicans Sound the Death Knell of Democracy.

Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

PHILIPPI, W. VA., August 20.—The largest and most enthusiastic convention ever held in Barbour county met here at the court house on Saturday, August 18. After the temporary organization the convention adjourned to meet at 1:30 p. m. Before the time mentioned for meeting the court house was filled to overflowing with the most energetic and enthusiastic crowd of citizens that ever met in convention at Philippi.

The hour having arrived, the convention was called to order and the gallant leader of the Republicans of Barbour county, and the only Republican office holder in the county, in the person of James H. Felton, was made permanent chairman, and in his speech he dealt the Democracy of this county some sledge hammer blows that reminded them very forcibly of the sad condition in which they have placed the laboring men and farmers of this country. He made an impression on the minds of the people that they will carry to their homes and will have a tendency in adding largely to the majority for the Republican ticket this fall. Mr. Felton closed his speech amidst great applause, after which the convention proceeded to nominate the following ticket:

House of delegates, W. H. Corder. Sheriff, John Howell.

Commissioner of county court, H. E. Hoff.

Superintendent of schools, Charles J. Zircle.

The ticket being completed, A. G. Dayton was called for and came forward, amid a storm of applause. The cry of "Dayton, Congressman Dayton," was heard in every corner of the house. Mr. Dayton made one of the most enthusiastic speeches that was ever made in Barbour county. And when he reminded the people of the bill that the Democratic Congress had just passed, that their tariff reformer had pronounced a bill of perjury and party dishonor, the audience went wild with applause.

Mr. Dayton is one of the most brilliant and able young statesmen in West Virginia, and if the people of the Second congressional district want their district represented by a Republican of ability your correspondent would suggest that they give him the nomination, as he believes him to be the strongest man in the district. Our county ticket has elements of strength that will insure us a sweeping victory this coming election. The entire ticket is made up of men whose characters are beyond reproach, and nearly all of them have served their people in various official capacities before, which to the people have been very satisfactory. They are men who have always been citizens of the county, having been born and reared within its borders.

The Republicans of Barbour did not have to go out of the confines of the county to find a candidate for the house of delegates, and Mr. Hodges has ever tackled in tramping "Bully Corder" in the dust, according to the prophecy of Judge Lee.

THE MINSTREL AND THE KHAN.

Geophis, Khan of Tartary, Wroth at seeing his kingdom thus three Looked from his tower, that echoed o'er The Yensel's sullen roar. And saw the bard in the court below, "Alas!" he sighed, "That I were so, A man of merrie minstrelsy, Instead of a Khan of Tartary."

Immediate Relief, Ited and Sleep. Complete and Permanent Cure in Two Months.

The first of October my daughter was taken with Typhoid and Malaria. While sick there came little blisters in the bends of the arms, which seemed to fill with water and itch. The doctor said when she got well she would have to suffer much pain, for she would have to live, suffering like this. Reading your advertisement in The Ladies Home Journal of the cure performed by CUTICURA REMEDIES in similar cases, we sent bottles of CUTICURA SOAP, and two bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, she was entirely well, and now after nearly two years there has been no trace of the disease. The doctor called it Psoriasis. I cannot give your remedies too much praise, for I believe my daughter would have died if it had not been for the CUTICURA REMEDIES.
